Major Sections

The "Survey of Africa and the African Diaspora" is organized into five major sections:

1. Foundations of African Societies

This section examines the origins of humans in Africa, the development of early civilizations, the rise of empires, and the impact of colonialism and the slave trade on African societies.

2. The African Diaspora

This section explores the forced and voluntary migrations of people of African descent to other parts of the world, from the transatlantic slave trade to contemporary migrations. It examines the experiences, cultures, and contributions of the African diaspora in the Americas, Europe, Asia, and the Caribbean.

3. Africa in the World System

This section analyzes Africa's economic, political, and cultural interactions with the rest of the world, from pre-colonial times to the present. It examines the impact of colonialism, globalization, and the challenges facing Africa in the 21st century.

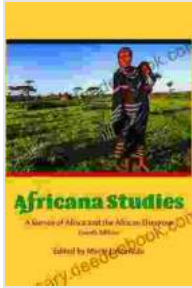

4. The Contemporary African State

This section provides an overview of the political, economic, and social structures of contemporary African states. It examines the challenges of nation-building, democratization, and economic development, as well as the role of civil society and international organizations in Africa.

5. Cultural Expressions in Africa and the Diaspora

This section explores the diverse cultural traditions of Africa and the African diaspora. It examines music, dance, literature, art, and religion, highlighting the rich creativity and cultural heritage of African peoples.

The "Survey of Africa and the African Diaspora, Fourth Edition" is an essential resource for scholars, students, policymakers, and anyone interested in understanding the complexities of Africa and its diaspora. Its comprehensive coverage, interdisciplinary approach, and contributions from leading scholars make it a definitive guide to this vibrant and dynamic region of the world.
