

Citroen 2CV: Different Is Everything

The Citroen 2CV is a unique and iconic car that has been loved by generations of drivers. Since its in 1948, it has become a symbol of French culture and style. The 2CV is known for its quirky design, its rugged construction, and its surprisingly good performance. It is a car that is as much at home in the countryside as it is in the city.

The 2CV was designed by Pierre Boulanger, who was the head of Citroen at the time. Boulanger wanted to create a car that was affordable, reliable, and easy to maintain. He also wanted it to be able to handle the rough roads of rural France. The resulting car was the 2CV, which was unveiled at the Paris Motor Show in 1948.
